Comments by the participants

- The questionnaire is asymmetric because is doesn´t include the option „disagree"
- The participants felt that the questionnaire is leading them to a certain answer (suggestive questions)
- The notions of „racism" and „xenophobia" are used in a similar meaning but they were perceived by the participants as different terms
- The questionnaire suggests that there is a connection between racism / xenophobia and religion (The questionnaire doesn´t ask the participants if there is a connection between them)
- The questionnaire doesn´t include answers like „I don´t know" / „I don´t want to answer"
- The participants found difficult to orient themselves in the last question (Triggers)
